

Stained Glass Saints
Today we remember Wilma Sosh

Wilma Sosh moved to Corbin in 1940. She arrived on a train from Louisville with her two sons, 12-year old Judson and four-year old Bill. Upon arrival she and the boys joined her husband Jud, who had already moved here and had rented and furnished a place for them to live at the then-new Tracy Apartments. Shortly thereafter some ladies from First Baptist Church came to visit and invite them to worship. Wilma soon joined the church and began a life of faithful and active membership here. Her faith and this church was a great source of strength and comfort to her when her husband passed away suddenly in 1949. She taught what was then called the Junior Girls Sunday School class for many years. Later she joined the Fidelis Sunday School class. She was also very active in the Women's Missionary Union (WMU).

Wilma made it a regular practice to pick up her friends who didn't drive and bring them to church every Sunday. These included Nell and Price Wilson and Mae French. When she was almost sixty, she started a new working career as an Avon sales representative. She continued to provide service to her customers as an Avon Lady for over thirty years, until she was over 90 years old. Wilma remained active in the life of the church until her health worsened in 2002 and stayed a member until she passed away in 2005 at the age of 99.

FBC Kids and Youth in ACTION!

In case you haven't noticed, it's been a cold and rainy week! Our youth found that out firsthand as they went to cheer on the community (and some of our very own church members who were crazy enough to join the fun) at the Colonel Sanders Half Marathon this past Saturday. Our youth embodied what service means as they got soaked to the bone and cheered on our local running community! To top it off, the youth of Faith Baptist Church from Georgetown, KY joined us in the fun!
